OLIVES- GREECE – STUFFED OLIVES

The Green Chalkidiki Olive

Green Halkidiki olives are grown in the peninsula of Halkidiki region of Northern Greece. The deep blue of the Aegean Sea, the bright sun and the fertile Greek land created these impressive and tasty table olives.

The Kalamata Olive

The world famous Kalamata olives with brownish-black color and characteristic “almond” shape have a unique and splendid taste from all other olive varieties of the world. The Kalamata olives grow only in specific regions of Greece and they are considered a special product. Kalamata olives are produced using traditional lactic acid fermentation, with no colouring added during the process.

The Conservolea Olive (Green & Black)

Conservolea olives are grown in various places in Greece, mainly in Central and West Greece (Agrinio, Am ssa, Arta, Lamia, Pilio). They are also called Am ssa or round olives (Olea europaea var. Rotund) usually named after the place they are grown. Their shape is quite round and their characteristic is their color variation from green, “blonde” to black, according to their maturity.

Both, black and green olives are particularly known in Greece for their strong flavor.
